Public History and Public Humanities Experience

Primary investigator and director, Silicon Valley Historical (2016–present). An online spatial exhibit on the history of Silicon Valley.

Technical director, American Indian Digital History Project (2014–present). An Omeka exhibit of material on American Indian history. Served as a technical advisor in deciding on and setting up technical infrastructure, metadata design, and document digitization. Primary investigator: Kent Blansett.

Academic technology specialist, Chinese Railroad Workers in North America, Stanford University (2013–2016). Served as a technical advisor and developer for a metadata management system, helped organized and curate nearly 10,000 digitized objects, and trained sixteen research assistants on metadata best practices and the platform used for collecting metadata. Primary investigators: Gordon Chang and Shelley Fischer Fishkin.

Project manager, William F. Cody Archive, Center for Digital Research in the Humanities, University of Nebraska-Lincoln (2011–2013). Supervised two graduate student interns, maintained documentation on project milestones and reference material, worked closely with museum staff at the Buffalo Bill Center for the West, and helped organize nearly 24,000 digitized documents.

Museum aide, South Dakota Art Museum, South Dakota State University (2006–2007). Worked with museum curator in preparing exhibits, maintaining an inventory of museum objects, and interacting with museum patrons.

Community Outreach and Engagement

Consultant, Making Invisible Histories Visible, Omaha, Nebraska (2017–present). This program invites twenty-four high school freshmen from Omaha Public Schools to take part in a summer program focused on the history of their city. I serve as a consultant primarily on mapping and digitally-interactive aspects of the projects produced in the program.

Project Lead, Puerto Rico Hurricane Relief Mapathon, Omaha, Nebraska (2017). I planned and hosted a mapathon to help with Puerto Rico disaster relief, organizing an open source mapping session to provide data to the Red Cross through OpenStreetMap.

Organizer and Project Lead, Mozilla Global Sprint 2017, Omaha, Nebraska (2017). I coordinated and hosted Global Sprint 2017 to bring together scientists, educators, artists, engineers, and others to hack and build projects for a healthy internet. We focused our project around Open Omaha.

Project Lead and Manager, Mobile Digitization for Rural Community Archives, Omaha, Nebraska (2017–present). With a grant from the LYRASIS Catalyst Fund, we initiated a pilot program for a mobile digitization lab and maker space for working with rural community archives and Tribal colleges.

Organizer, Endangered Data Week, Omaha, Nebraska (2017). Helped organize the first international Endangered Data Week, a collaborative effort among campuses, nonprofits, libraries, citizen science initiatives, and cultural heritage institutions. EDW is designed to shed light on public datasets that are in danger of being deleted, repressed, mishandled, or lost. Our sponsors included the Digital Library Federation and their Records Transparency and Accountability Interest Group, the Council on Library and Information Resources, the National Digital Stewardship Alliance, Data Refuge, and the Mozilla Science Lab.

Presenter, Information Exchange, Omaha, Nebraska (2017). An event devoted to helping communities locate and strategize methods to provide better access to information, generate ideas about what libraries are and how knowledge can be shared within a community to improve the lives of its citizens.

Consulting scholar, Santa Clara Valley National Heritage Area (2016–2017). Research historian helping aid the pursuit of the National Park Service designation for recognizing Silicon Valley as a National Heritage Area (NHA), only the second such site in California.
